

Our company was chosen to be the official St. Louis based event management company for a large technology corporation's international conference coming to St. Louis after being interviewed by a 3rd party representing the technology corporation. The conference was being moved to St. Louis in an effort to provide a different and new atmosphere for the attendees as well as an effort to cut costs from the previous conferences which took place in Las Vegas. The client needed our assistance with all aspects of planning for their week-long program ranging from a multi-route city wide shuttle, all VIP transfers, staffing and registration services, décor and entertainment at their Opening and Closing Reception, to servicing the client and their ICW (in conjunction with) partners from different international regions with all on and off-site events providing entertainment, décor, and transportation and spouse tour services.
